

For Details Contact
Cynthia Booth, Public Affairs Specialist
919.560.4355, ext. 27223
919.389.4941 (mobile)
Cynthia.Booth@durhamnc.gov

News Release

For Immediate Release: January 8, 2019

Durham Earns National Accreditation in Parks and Recreation

Mark of distinction recognizes Durham Parks and Recreation's commitment to the highest level of service to the community

Durham, NC – Last night during the City Council meeting, Mayor Steve Schewel and the Durham City Council recognized Durham Parks and Recreation (DPR) on receiving its accreditation for the third time in a row. This distinguished accomplishment was awarded during the 2018 NRPA Annual Conference in Indianapolis, Indiana late last year.

Durham Parks and Recreation (DPR) joins the ranks of the elite park and recreation agencies across the country by earning accreditation through the Commission for Accreditation of Park and Recreation Agencies (CAPRA) and the National Recreation and Park Association (NRPA).

CAPRA accreditation is the only national accreditation for park and recreation agencies and is a measure of an agency's overall quality of operation, management and service to the community. This mark of distinction indicates that an agency has met rigorous standards related to the management and administration of lands, facilities, resources, programs, safety, and services.

As part of the accreditation process, DPR had to demonstrate compliance with 151 recognized standards and document all policies and procedures. Often the process helps identify inefficiencies and heighten areas of accountability, all of which translate into higher quality service and operation to benefit the community. DPR met all 151 standards.

"We are thrilled to be among the 12 accredited agencies in the State of North Carolina, and the 174 accredited agencies in the U.S.," said DPR Director Rhonda B. Parker. "We pride ourselves on following industry standards to provide the best quality service to Durham residents."

The process for accreditation involves a formal application, self-assessments, a site visit by a team of trained visitors that results in a written report, and a hearing with the commission to grant accreditation. Once accredited, the agency must uphold the standards by submitting an annual report and is reviewed again in five years.

The Commission is comprised of representatives from NRPA, the American Academy for Park and Recreation Administration, the National Association of County Park and Recreation Officials, the International City/County Management Association, the Academy for Leisure Sciences, the Armed Forces Recreation Network and the Council of State Executive Directors.

For more information about CAPRA accreditation, visit www.nrpa.org/CAPRA.

About Durham Parks and Recreation

Durham Parks and Recreation provides opportunities for the Durham community to Play More by connecting our whole community to wellness, the outdoors, and lifelong learning. To learn more about Durham Parks and Recreation, follow us on Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram, or call (919) 560-4355.

About the National Recreation and Park Association

The National Recreation and Park Association is a national not-for-profit organization dedicated to ensuring that all Americans have access to parks and recreation for health, conservation and social equity. Through its network of 60,000 recreation and park professionals and advocates, NRPA encourages the promotion of healthy and active lifestyles, conservation initiatives and equitable access to parks and public space. For more information, visit www.nrpa.org. For digital access to NRPA's flagship publication, Parks & Recreation, visit www.parksandrecreation.org.